Since 1982, John has overseen the operations of Apollo Insurance Agency, building what began as a small independent agency into one of the largest and most well-respected insurance agencies in Central Minnesota. Throughout the years, he has never lost sight of his responsibility as an insurance agent, and he continues to interact directly and personally with customers, keeping them current on their commercial policies and acting on their behalf with insurance providers.

In addition to his work in the area of sales and service, John acts as Apollo's President and general manager, helping set the agency's standards and ensuring the accomplishment of its mission. He is a licensed agent and attained his CIC (Certified Insurance Counselor) designation in 1987. The CIC is a mark of distinction that represents a commitment to continuous enhancement of one's knowledge and service. CIC is nationally recognized as a symbol of professional excellence and leadership in the insurance industry.
